THE CASE IN THREE LINES

Mawj sells a callbot. We deliver AI transformation at every level — voice, chat, integrations, dashboards, and the platform to grow into.

At SAR 65,000 against Mawj's SAR 59,000 all-in, the gap is SAR 6,000 — and for that, Vitality gets: a validated pilot already live on their flow, Nixpend HMS integration, payment gateway, SMS gateway, a custom unified dashboard, therapist matching across 15 districts, 12,000 AIKA voice minutes and 48,000 AIWA messages included annually. Mawj's number buys a license. Ours buys a working system.

• THE TAKEAWAY

Read the green column down. Vitality is not buying a callbot. They are buying a fully operational AI transformation — voice, chat, HMS integration, payment gateway, SMS, a custom dashboard, and therapist matching across 15 districts, all live on their actual workflow from day one.

The SAR 6,000 premium over Mawj's Year 1 total is the cost of not having to hire an integrator, build the Nixpend connection separately, source a payment gateway, stitch together a dashboard, and run a cold-start pilot all over again. Price that out in time alone and SAR 65,000 is the cheaper number.
