

LINKEDIN STRATEGY

Seventy-five years of sourcing. Zero minutes on LinkedIn.

A campaign strategy for alsabercars.com – grounded in primary sources, positioned around a defensible identity, and a lead engine aimed at six named buyer profiles instead of an abstract "luxury audience."

What Al Saber brings. And the lane nobody holds.

Everything this strategy claims can survive the test a sceptical fleet manager would apply: one web search. These are the foundations.

HERITAGE

75+ years of family heritage in vehicle import and export – stated on Al Saber's own About page and consistent with its public identity. This is the trust anchor of the entire campaign.

Source: alsabercars.com/about

INVENTORY

Inventory spans ~70 brands: Ferrari, Lamborghini, Rolls-Royce and Aston Martin alongside BYD, Maxus, Foton, Jetour and Toyota – plus collector metal (a 1990 Testarossa, a 2009 SLR 722). Al Saber is not a single-marque house; it is a sourcing house. The strategy leans into that instead of hiding it.

Source: alsabercars.com/cars – live inventory

INFRASTRUCTURE

A corporate purchase track already exists. The purchase page splits into أفراد (individuals) and شركات (companies), with cash and financing routes – the fleet lead has a landing place from day one.

Source: alsabercars.com/purchase

THE OPEN LANE

No independent importer or pre-owned luxury dealer in the Kingdom has a content-led LinkedIn voice. The official agents post as institutions; the independents are effectively silent – and procurement and fleet decision-makers concentrate their professional attention on LinkedIn, where Al Saber currently has no page at all. That lane is genuinely empty.

Sources: linkedin.com/company/samaco-motors · linkedin.com/company/fast-autotechnic-co.-ltd.

Not an official dealer.

The Kingdom's sourcing house.

Official agents are constrained: one brand, factory allocations, list prices, corporate tone. Al Saber's independence is the product – it can source any marque, any year, any spec, buy back, re-export across the GCC, and move faster than any franchise. Seventy-five years of family trade is a credential no franchise agreement can grant.

"The official dealer sells you what the factory sends. Al Saber finds you the car you actually asked for."

Every post, profile line, and DM in this campaign speaks from that position. It is fully defensible, it differentiates against SAMACO and Fast Auto Technic rather than imitating them, and it converts the multi-brand inventory from a luxury-story liability into the proof of the claim.

Six rooms.

Four we sell to, two that amplify.

Each profile below is grounded in what the website and inventory actually support today – not an aspirational audience list.

ICP 1 – PRIMARY

Corporate Fleet & Procurement Managers

Riyadh-based companies buying 5-50 vehicles: executive sedans for leadership, workhorses and vans (Foton, Maxus), and increasingly Chinese EVs (BYD) for cost-managed fleets. Repeat cycles, procurement authority, one relationship worth a quarter of retail revenue.

Hook: fleet cost-per-kilometre breakdowns, cash-vs-financing math, EV fleet economics under Vision 2030. Lands on the existing شركات purchase track.

ICP 2 – PRIMARY

SME Owners & Entrepreneurs

Business owners who buy twice – a statement car for themselves and vehicles for the company. They live on LinkedIn professionally and vet a supplier's credibility before ever calling. Financing options and trade-in flexibility decide the deal.

Hook: "buy for yourself and your business" content; import savings vs showroom list prices; heritage story.

ICP 3 – PRIMARY

HNWIs & Collectors

Quiet researchers, decisive buyers. They want what the official channel cannot allocate: rare specs, discontinued models, provenance cars. Al Saber's live inventory – Testarossa, SLR 722, Purosangue – is the proof this room responds to.

Hook: sourcing stories ("how we found this car"), provenance threads, market-value commentary on collector metal.

ICP 4 – PRIMARY

Regional Dealers & Exporters

The B2B trade room nobody else addresses: GCC and African dealers sourcing Saudi stock, and exporters using Riyadh as a hub. Import/export is literally Al Saber's founding business – 75 years of it. Pure trade volume, zero showroom cost.

Hook: re-export regulation explainers, GCC price-arbitrage insight, wholesale availability notes.

The two amplifiers.

Two rooms we never pitch – their attention multiplies the reach and credibility of everything aimed at the four buying rooms.

ICP 5 – AMPLIFIER

Finance, Leasing & Insurance Partners

Banks, leasing firms and insurers seeking dealer partnerships. They vet partners on LinkedIn first; a credible page opens co-branded financing offers that in turn make ICPs 1-2 easier to close.

Hook: partnership announcements, financing-product commentary.

ICP 6 – AMPLIFIER

Automotive Press & Vision 2030 Ecosystem

Journalists and mobility-programme executives who quote sources, not sellers. Market-insight posts earn citations; citations earn authority that compounds back into every other room.

Hook: quotable data points on the Saudi import market, quarterly trend notes.

Who holds the boardroom today.

PLAYER	TYPE	LINKEDIN PRESENCE	THE GAP AL SABER EXPLOITS
SAMACO Motors	Official agent – Porsche, Audi, Bentley, Lamborghini	~48,600 followers; active, corporate-PR tone	Speaks as an institution. Cannot discuss other marques, imports, or price arbitrage.
Fast Auto Technic	Official Ferrari & Maserati importer	~2,600 followers; minimal, static	Single-marque, hiring-board usage. No market voice.
Syarah & online platforms	Used-car marketplaces	Employer-brand pages	Talk to candidates and investors, not buyers.
Independent importers (direct peers)	Multi-brand import/export	Effectively absent	The open lane. First credible voice sets the reference point.

The honest read: LinkedIn in Saudi automotive is not empty – it is institutional. Nobody speaks as a trader, a sourcer, an independent market authority. That voice is unclaimed, and it is the only voice Al Saber can authentically own.

Four pillars.

PILLAR ONE

Heritage & House

Seventy-five years of the Al Saber family in the car trade: the standards, the sourcing discipline, the name. A claim that is both true and unmatched – no franchise agreement can grant it, and no competitor can copy it.

Outcome: inbound trust. The page passes the silent audit every buyer runs before the first message.

PILLAR TWO

Market Insight

The Saudi import market from the inside: price movements, Chinese-EV fleet adoption, Vision 2030 mobility shifts, GCC re-export flows. Insight only an independent trader across 70 brands can see.

Outcome: source status. Press quotes it, partners share it, a source outranks a seller.

PILLAR THREE

The Sourcing Story

How a specific car was found, verified, imported, delivered – from a fleet of Maxus vans to a 1990 Testarossa. Behind-the-scenes proof of capability, with the people who do it.

Outcome: familiarity and differentiation. This is content no official agent is allowed to make.

PILLAR FOUR

Fleet & Client Proof

Corporate deliveries, partnership announcements, collector acquisitions – social proof mapped to each ICP, always ending at the corporate purchase track or a DM.

Outcome: conversion. Warm attention becomes a showroom enquiry.

Four posts a week. Arabic-first, English mirrored.

The audience reads Arabic; the fleet-procurement and partner rooms often work in English. Company-page posts run bilingual (Arabic lead, English follow) – a detail the current website ignores and competitors underuse.

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
Heritage & House	–	Market Insight	–	Sourcing Story	–	Fleet & Client Proof

- Drafts delivered weekly in Al Saber's voice, on a fixed cadence, with one revision round built in.
- Calendar approval: nothing publishes without sign-off.
- Bi-weekly review: what resonated, what earned DMs, what to adjust.
- Founder profile: 2-3 personal posts a month from a named family leader – LinkedIn's distribution rewards people over logos, and a 75-year family story belongs to a face.

From quiet scroll to signed fleet.

01	Awareness	A procurement manager sees a fleet-economics post shared into their feed. Al Saber enters the mental map.
02	Silent audit	They open the page: months of consistent, verifiable content, real credentials, a corporate purchase link. The audit passes.
03	Engagement	Reactions, comments, a follow. The relationship warms without a single outbound message.
04	Connection & DM	They connect with the founder profile. The first enquiry arrives: a fleet quote, a sourcing request, a partnership idea.
05	Meeting → Showroom	The conversation moves to a call or majlis, then Khurais Road – arriving convinced, not curious.
06	Purchase & repeat	One car, a fleet, or a standing export relationship. Fleet and trade accounts recur – the compounding return.

Fix before the first post.

- Create the LinkedIn company page – none exists today. Secure the name, banner, bilingual About, and the corporate-purchase link before any content spends attention on it.
- Add social links to the website footer – the site currently links to no owned profiles, so trust cannot flow in either direction.
- Publish an English About page – the EN toggle exists but the content is thin; the fleet and partner rooms will read it.
- Trust signals on site: showroom address, commercial registration, years-in-trade, import credentials – the items a silent audit looks for and currently cannot find.
- Compliance rule: no "official dealer/agent" language for any marque, ever. Independence is the story; accuracy is the moat.

Ninety days, three gears.

MONTH ONE

Foundation

- Kickoff: voice, founder profile owner, approval flow
- Company page built; site prerequisites fixed
- Pillar calendar locked; first posts live

MONTH TWO

Consistency

- Full 4-post rhythm, bilingual format settled
- Founder profile active; targeted connection growth into ICPs 1-4
- Bi-weekly reviews steering the mix

MONTH THREE

Authority

- Recognised independent voice on the Saudi car trade
- First fleet/sourcing enquiries traceable to LinkedIn
- Press citation and partner-outreach targets

A pipeline, not a scoreboard.

METRIC	WHY IT MATTERS	90-DAY SIGNAL OF HEALTH
Qualified DMs / enquiries	The engine's actual output	5-10 with budget & authority
Corporate-purchase-page visits from LinkedIn	Proof the fleet content routes to the existing شركات track	Steady month-over-month growth
ICP-fit followers	Audience quality over quantity	Majority of new followers match ICPs 1-4
Founder-post reach vs page reach	Validates the people-over-logos bet	2-3× multiplier
Press / partner citations	Source status compounding	First citation or co-branded conversation